Harding and House Leaders Reach Agreement on Disarmament Resolution.

COMPROMISE WITH SENATE State's Witness Declares Mrs.

Senate Vote Will Result in Quicker Action on Disarmament Proposal.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co. Washington - President Harding and Representative Mondell, Republican leader of the house, have practically agreed that if any expression is made by the congress of the United States on the subject of disarmament it ought to include not merely the reduction of naval armament but the land armament as well. Mr. Mondell asked the president's advice on a situation which has arisen in the house which must now pass upon the Borah resolution unanimously adopted by the senate and providing merely that the United States consult with Japan and Great Britain about the reduction of naval armament. The house membership, generally speaking, feels that the Borah resolution is not broad enough and that not only the naval but the military forces of the world should be reduced in size in order that the tax burden may be less everywhere and economic reconstruction thus aided.

Again and again the house has expressed itself in favor of either a naval holiday or general disarmament and Representative Mondell told the president that he believed the house would like to broaden the scope of the Borah resolution. He inquired if Mr. Harding had any objection to such a course and found that the president would sign any resolution which the leaders of both houses worked out.

The president is committed to disarmament-so are all the Republican leaders but the method and form of reaching a conclusion on this vital subject has brought out some differences of opinion. Fundamentally there was no objection to Mr. Borah's purpose but it was felt that the subject was one that should be left to the president to work out in his own

But as Mr. Mondellexplained to the president, it is a condition and not a theory which faces the house for the senate has unanimously adopted the Ecrah resolution. The House for disarmament. The house has Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. merely waited upon the wishes of the president.

the Borah resolution, the passage of file petitions. that measure by the senate has hastened the decision of the administration to tackle the subject of disarmament as a whole. And it will be the purpose of the senate and house leaders to draft a resolution which will express the opinion of the congress of the United States in such emphatic terms as will assist psychologically the entire disarmament movement throughout the world.

The president and Mr. Mondell talked over the phraseology of the neace resolution which will be passed the house in a few days and Mr. Harding expressed no objection to the Porter resolution which differs from the Knox proposal in that it eliminates the clause repealing the original declaration of war.

INTRUDER STARTS ROW IN MEETING OF UNION

NEED MORE CARS FOR MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

"We still are short the required number of cars for use of the aged veterans and ladies on Memorial day," said Lothar G. Graef, chairman of the transportation committee. "Quite a number of people have said they would give up the use of their cars for the afternoon for the sake of the infirm, but some may be obliged to walk if more offers are not forth-

Mr. Graef believes many automobile owners have not made their plans for Memorial day and hesitate to loan their cars until they know to what extent these people will need to use the machines themselves. All who are uncertain and cannot send advance notice are directed to have their cars on Park-ave. facing College-ave. not later than 2:30 Monday afternoon. Those who know their automobiles can be spared are asked to telephone Mr. Graef Saturday or Sunday at No.

WEAR POPPIES TODAY TO HONOR WORLD WAR DEAD

Young ladies were stationed in the downtown section Saturday tagging everybody with poppies. Saturday is "poppy day" all over the United States, and is being conducted here by Oney Johnston post of the American legion.

The poppies are to be worn Memorial day in memory of the World war veterans who are buried in France The little red blossom is the official flower adopted by the American legion, because of its significance in Flanders fields, where so many men perished in battle and were buried beneath fields of bright red poppies. Several thousand are being distrib-

HORSE RAISING IS NATIONAL LEADER RELIC OF THE PAST

Black Creek Veterinarian Declares Farmers Have Ceased Raising Colts.

Dr. J. B. Huhn, Black Creek veterinarian, predicts that within five years farmers will be required to pay enormous prices for horses. He based his prediction on the fact that very few colts are being raised in the county.

Dr. Huhn was one of several veterinarians who attended the sale of Holtein cattle Friday. He said tractors and automobiles had replaced horses challenge that "prohibition must be to such an extent that the breeding of horses is a thing of the past.

A man presented $20 bills with one end burned, making the excuse that this had been done during a card game. The Oshkosh police were notified while the man was making the rounds, but they reached the last bank too late.

It is believed that the game is to cut the figure 20 out of the bills and paste them over the numbers on $1 or $5 bills, passing them off for $20. The partially mutilated $20 bill then is resented to the bank and a new one is given, because the serial numbers and signatures remain.

Distinction Without Extravagance

Most five-passenger cars are undistinctive and commonplace. They are types instead of original creations. And therein lies the first great difference between the New Series "Glenbrook" and many other cars of the medium priced field.

When you first look at a "Glenbrook" you will recognize it at once as a car with a very distinctive and altogether charming personality. Like well groomed people, it is individual and unique.

Ride in the Glenbrook and your first impression will become enthusiastic convictions. You will sense at once the power and mechanical resources that meet every emergency of the road. Each burst of speed, each conquered grade drives this convic-

But spirited performance is most appreciated these days when it is achieved without waste and extravagance. Not the least of the Glenbrook owner's satisfaction lies in his modest bills for fuel and upkeep.

Gates? Ob, No! Even the gates were not opened to the visiting party so that they might enter the hallowed precincts with a little dignity. They either jumped over the barbed wire fence that surrounds Carpentier's quarters o crawled under the lower strand. Some made th egrade with ease, the stout er ones induiged in much grounting and squirming.

It was cold, ra wand wet and a dispiriting rain was constantly blown into the burn in which Carpentie trains while he was going through the motions. The dismal weather may have dampened his ardor and some were willing to let it go at that. Wearing a pair of flossy blue trunks and a white athletic shirt Carpentier made his appearance some time after the appointed hour His first essay was at the punch ing bag, which he tapped gingerly a few times. Then he took up the skip ping rope, at which he is something of a bear, going at the work with degree of ferecity.
